Learning is a constant process: Fakhar Hayat

Islamabad: Highlighting the importance of asking questions, Mr. Fakhar Hayat, Director General, Federal Judicial Academy, said, "It is the simplest and effective way of learning. Asking the relevant questions from the erudite resource persons during different training sessions will enable you to gain deeper insight, develop more innovative solutions and to arrive at better logical conclusion about any issue in question."

He expressed these views in the inaugural ceremony of a one-week training Course on "How to be an Effective Senior Civil Judge" for Senior Civil Judges from all over Pakistan, Azad Jammu & Kashmir and Gilgit-Baltistan held at the Federal Judicial Academy, Islamabad, on Monday.

He said, "Learning is a perpetual process. The hallmark of a successful professionalism is a constant process of learning and refining of our skills. The emerging new trends, techniques, subjects and laws in the justice sector require that we should familiar ourselves with those during in-service continual trainings and other capacity building opportunities. This weeklong training provides you a great opportunity to enrich your knowledge and develop your skills regarding effective human resource management, fiscal management, transparency in purchase and procurement, court and case management and other important areas necessary for effective dispensation of justice."

Twenty three Senior Civil Judges from all over Pakistan and Gilgit-Baltistan are participating in this weeklong training course at the Academy.
